SUMMARY OF THE FORTNIGHT'S NEWS. From The Alta California, April 20. THE STATE.

SUMMARY OF THE FORTNIGHT'S NEWS.

The STATE.

Our summary of news for the last two weeks will be found even more devoid of interest to the distant reader than usual. No political action or legislative movement worthy of note has taken place during this time; we have no example of popular tunult or excitement, scarcely a casualty of magnitude, or a start-hing crime to record.

In regard to mining operations we have only to repeat what we have before said, more gold will be taken out of our placers during the four or five months ending with April, than has ever been gathered during the like period before.

Our State Treasurer, who, at the issuing of our last steamer edition, was in custody, having been surrendered by one of his original bondsmen, shortly after procured other securities, and was again suffered to go at large.

A resolution providing for the adjournment of the Legislature on the 27th inst., having passed the Senate by an almost unanimous vote, the probabilities are that the Sessien will then be brought to a close.

The liberal and much abused law, allowing married women to carry on business in their own names, is likely tolbe repealed—a resolution to that effect having passed one branch of the Legislature.

The Legislative Committee do not agree with the Governor in thinking the plan of gathering our Indian population into reservations should be abandoned, and the tribes be removed beyond the Sierras.

The recent election for charter officers in Sacramento resulted in the choice of almost the entire Democratic ticket, by large majorities. There were two other parties in the field.

The Bolton and Barron claim has been confirmed by the United Stathes District Court.

The bill introduced into the Assembly for admitting the testimeny of Indians, negoes and Asiatics, in judicial proceedings where whites are concerned, has been defeated by a strong negative vote.

A new stern-wheel steamer, built at Steamboat Point, was launched on the 6th inst. She is owned and commanded by Capt. Weeks, and is designed to ran between this city and Clear Creek on the Upper Sacramento, about 60 miles above Red Bluffs, which has been hitherto regarded as the head of steam navigation. The keel of three other steamers have just been laid at Steambout Point. Two are designed for the Petaluma trade, and one for Contra Costa.

Thomas Wright, ir., a native of Philadelphia, aged 37, committed sciede on Saturday night, the 4th inst., by shooting himself through the head with a pistol, at the residence of Mr. Shaw, on Powell street, near Jackson. He had suffered from depression of spirits for gevent days previous, and is believed to have been laboring under a temporary attack of insanity.

J. M. Crowell, of the firm of J. M. Crowell & Co., was arrested on Saturday, the 4th inst., on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses. Some eight or ten other charges of a similar nature have since been preferred against him, on two of which he has been held to answer at the Court of Sessions. The remainder will probably be sent directly before the Girard Jarry.

Grard Jury.

J. W. Holt, abscending Sheriff of Klamath County, was arrested in this city or the 4th inst., on a charge of aiding a prisoner, charged with murder, to escape. The prisoner, Michael Dennelly, murdered a man at Sahnon Falls, he was given into the hands of Holt, the Sheriff, who took him to an adjoining county, and, upon a representation that Donnelly was insane, obtained an order from the County Judge to convey him to the Insane Asylum at Stockton; instead of doing so, the Sheriff brought his prisoner to Sacramento and suffered him to escape. Donnelly has since gone to Australia. Holt was arrested, and every effort has been made by counsel to obtain his release on habeas corpus, but without success. He has since been remaded and rent back to Klamath County.

Jacob Somers, a member of Monumental Engine Conpany No. 6, was seriously injured while on his way to a fire on the morning of the 5th inst. He was knecked down by the tongue of the engine, and both wheels passed over his thigh.

A young man named Warden D. Guest, aged 16 years, a son of Aaron Guest of New-York, died on board the clipper ship Andrew Jackson, on the 5th inst., from injuries received in falling into the ship's hold on the Thursday previous.

The body of William Burke, a native of Dublin, aged 35 years, was found drowned in the Bay, near Valleje-street wharf, on the 8th inst. Deceased had been a fireman on the steamer John L. Stephens.

Mr. S. B. King, a Constable in the Second District, was knocked down with a slung-shot, by Edward Murphy, on the 9th inst., while serving a writ of repleving upon the latter. His shull is fractured, and fears are entertained that his injuries will prove fatal.

A nan named John Williams, native of Italy, aged 35 years, died at his lodging-house in this city, on the 12th inst., from injuries received in falling down a flight of stairs. Deceased had formerly been in the United States Navy.

The inhabitants of this region are in a peaceful and prosperous condition. The mines are yielding fair wages, and the farmers are putting in a large extent of grain. The grass and vegetation is forward, the cattle being fat enough for market. The prospect is that a large crop of grain will be raised this season, adding to butter and cattle, which have hitherto been their principal exports, that of flour also.

After the examination of Myers before the magnetrate, and his release upon bail, a man named Charles Whitehead sought an intimacy with him, under the pretense that he was a member of a gang, associated for all the villainous purposes by which money can be made, and that he wished Myers to join the fellowship. Whitehead accompanied Myers on his flight to Felsom, professing friendship all the while, and laying plans for a variety of enterprises in the line of robing, arson and mucder. On their arrival Myers's confidence was completely won, and he was eager to become a member in full standing of the gang to which Whitehead belonged. Whitehead then began to pretend caution, and to besitate in disclosing to Myers the signs, pnear ords and secrets of the organization. He fold him that it was necessary that they should have some security for his faithfulness to the community—that he should have committed some crime which would outlaw ham from society, and that the order should have the secret in their possession. Myers was completely wen, and confessed in the first place to a marder and robbery examitted in this State some time since, and then to the attempt to fire Nevada on Friday morning—said that he was actuated by revenge; that he had lost his money in gambling; that he had a gradge against his wife, who slept in the next house to the one he fired; that he meant to burn the town, and would have done so if it had not been for the d—d watchman, &c. Whitehead pretended to be satisfied, and, leaving him upon some pretext, brought in an acquaintance, whom he introduced as a pal, and induced Myers to repeat his confession in his presence. The three then made arrangements for a variety of villainous transactions, and then went to bed at the Mansion House, and were to leave early in the morning for Shasta. Marshal Plummer and O'Brien arrived at Folsom that night and arrested Myers in bed. He was brought to Nevada, and is now lying in our jail. Some fears were entertained that he would receive summary justices from the crowd.

Discovery or a Coal Miss.—The State Journal says: About one menta ago Messrs. Bralley and Brooks, who teside about thirty miles from this city, discovered, while digging a well, a substance some what resembling coal, which upon trial was found to burn something after the manner of coke. Further investigations developed the fact that a large amount of this material exists in that neighborhood, the vein being now said to extend for miles, twelve feet in depth, and several feet in which. The soil of that section is of a talcky ratiure, and the surface is rolling for miles until the foot-hills are reached. The spot where this substance was first discovered is on the Jockson road, near the line dividing Sacramento from Amesior County, about thirty miles from the city. The gestlemen mentioned brought a considerable quantity of the article to the city vesterday, and it was examined by many persons. It is evidently the substance known as lignite, described in the books as being the carbonacous remains of It is evidently the substance known as lightle, described in the books as being the carbenacous remains of forest-trees. A RICH STRIKE.—The Union Desserted says:—
The company owning and working the "Democratic Quartz Ven," made quite a "haul" in their claim, on Monday last. The shaft was about half-filled with on Monday last. The shaft was about haif filled with water, and two of the company were preparing to pump it out, and for some purpose one of them descended to the water. While hanging on the rope he discovered a speck of gold in the quartz, and taking out his knife, he commenced scratching in the place. The quartz being rotten, he succeeded in displacing a few pieces, which revealed to him the richest kind of a deposit. In a few minutes he took out gold to the amount of about $1,500—a great portion of it being crystallized gold, of the most beautiful formations, and entirely free from quartz. The claim is situated on the mountain to the right of Brown's Flat, a short distance above the Italian claim, the richness of which we have heretofore spoken of. The quartz lodes of this locality are among the richest in the country.

NEW-GRANADA.

We have Bogota papers to the 7th of April.
On the 1st of the month the new President, Dr. Ospina, was inaugurated and took the prescribed oath in the church of San Domingo. Addresses were made to him by the President of the Senate, the retiring President and other public functionaries, to which he replied, and thus the ceremony concluded. honor.

The new Cabinet is composed of Sr. Juan Antonio Prado, Secretary for Foreign Affairs; Sr. Manuel A. Sanclemente, Secretary of the Government and War; Sr. Jonquin Valencia, Secretary of the Treasury.

The Macintosh question was not settled satisfactorily by the retiring administration, and Mr. Griffith han not, consequently, renewed his friendly relations with the government. Mr. Lino de Pombo, who so misrepresented the Panama Affairs, is accused by Mr. Mark, the British Vice Consul, in a published letter, of misrepresenting Mr. Griffith the British Minister, also. He says: "Mr. Griffith has never, in any way, directly or indirectly, done anything to warrant Sr. Pombo's deliberately stating to the Chambers that he could be led to accept the said project of law as a final settlement of the question at issue."

As there seems very little prospect of a satisfactory settlement, the Orion, Basalisk, and Intrepid are at Carthagens. The Admiral, Sir Heuston Steward, in the Indus, accompanied by the Termegant, is daily expected, and the Cossack and Tartar are to join the squadron.

The Tiempo gives a sketch of the politics of the new Ministers. Senor Prado, it says, is a strict Conservative, representing old ideas, a retrograde spirit and the policy of the colonial epoch, who would, if possible, restore the country to the condition it was in in 1809. Dr. Sanclamente is an untried man, said to have been implicated in the revolution of 1851. Señor Valencia was once a member of the Abando Administration, until the rebellion of the 17th of April, when he commenced to incline to the Conservative party, and has since united himself with it. He is hard working and upright, but timed and not inclined to the modern school of political economy.

The same journal also reviews the out-going Administration, which it calls betther retrograde nor progressive, neither conservative nor liberal, but a mean between the two. It gives it credit for having reduced the army, but blames it for not having disbanded it altogether. squadron.

On the 6th the second reading took place in the Chamber of Representatives of the bill proposed by one of the representatives of Panama, giving certain power to the Executive relative to defending the territory and securing the transit of the Isthmus. The bill was supported by the Secretary of the Government and of Foreign Affairs, and opposed by Senators Pradilla, Holguin, Murillo and Arosemena, who stated that to preserve the transit free, it was only necessary to render effective the obligation imposed on the Railroad Company to pay a police force necessary for the purpose. Sr. Arosemena concluded by recommending that the House should take into consideration the project of law introduced by him, placing the Isthmus under the protection of New-Granada, England, France, the United States and Sardinia.

From Our Own Correspondent. HAVANA, May 8, 1857.

The African slave-dealers in this city are incensed against your correspondent for denouncing their plans to the American public. They little thought that obstacles would be thrown in the way of the Clara B. Williams, Putnam, and Merchant, inasmuch as so many have been allowed to leave New-York unmolested by the authorities, that they had begun to imagine that detection was no longer to be feared. The Clara B. Williams has arrived here, but I have not yet ascertained by what subterfuges she will contrive to get an unsuspicious clearance for the Coast. Her captain has promised to shoot your correspondent whenever he meets him. He has already had that honor, but I am afraid he will have to postpone his plans until some future date. Your correspondent will live, God willing, to make him and the rest burn with shame. I have been promised evidence affecting certain pious churchgoing merchants in New-York, interested directly in the trade, and when this evidence is placed in my hands I shall forward it for publication. Let them be hands I shall forward it for publication. Let them be exceedingly cautious in all their operations, otherwise they will find to their cost that anonymous threats are not only despised, but stimulate their receiver to positive discoveries of the horrid plans of the villains who, under the cloak of good citizens, affiliated in the ranks of freemen, are the abettors, strong and rich, of the Slave Trade in the Island o Cuba. IOWA.

THE WINTER-CATTLE STARVED AND FROZEN-FREE-STATE PROSPECTS.

FILLMORE, Mo., April 23, 1857. The past Winter will be one long to be remembered. Its effects have been felt in every State and Territory of the Union. I will speak particularly of Western Iowa and Nebraska.

In ordinary seasons, cattle are wintered with ve ry little or no feeding. On the Missouri Flats. the usands of head subsist during the Winter season enti rely upon the rushes and wild pea-vines which are; ound in abundance, and do better than feeding en ha y and corn. The prospect last Fall was ex-ceedingly fair, till, the first day of December, it comm enced showing, and continued most of the time one tr emendous storm until the snow fell to the one it emenants storm until the show fell to the depth a f between three and four feet—and such a snow-st orm! The clouds of snow might be compared to the ci ouds of moving sand on the deserts of Arabia; while the mercury ranged from 20 to 36 degrees be 'ow zero, and in a number of instances actually f. 'oze. It made a clean sweep of fowls and swine, and I nearly all the cattle. Some who had several hun dred head of cattle, lost the whole. Some shot one ha if to save the feed for the other half, and shot one had those finally froze to death, shut up in barns and stables. A few (myself being one) saved a part of their stock b, v driving south to the Missouri, where the climate w as warmer and feed more plenty. But cold weather , has continued so long here, and such a demand for gr. in and provisions from Iowa, Ne-braska and Ka usas, that Missouri is nearly eaten out. The severity of the Winter in the Northern States will be the mea, us of populating Kansas from those States this sease n. She is now considered the same as a Free State, the prospect being so fair for her to become such. For a few weeks past the main roads have been comple tely lined with the white tented wagons rolling on to the grand Central Territory. Yet these are but the first sprinkling drops to the plentiful shower, the vanguard to the mighty phalanx still to come. Those rich prairies and beautiful woodlands shall be the scene of Indian buffelo hunts and ruffian massac to be longer. The wide and sweeping tracts of pa airie-grass shall now give place

There, where a few months since highwayrobbery, pillaging and murder was the order of the day, where the flames and smoke of burning dwellings ascended high, and the blood of our brether was made a sacrifice at the shrine of Liberty we hope soon to see erected peaceful dwellings, school-houses, and stately edifices for public worship. Let me add a remark in relation to Missouri, that the prespect is fair for her to become a Free State. The question is coming before the people, and efforts are soon to be made to emancipate all the slaves, and send them to Liberia. The people say they are tired of the slaves; that their forefathers committed a great wrong in bringing them here, and now they want to send them back to where it was designed they should live. May the great work roll

After all the weeks of shouting by our adversaries over their beasted victory in Iowa, it dwindles to a very small affair under the test of the official canvass. The election was for three State Officers only, and they have carried but two of them, while the vote is bu two-thirds of a full one. The Chicago Tribune thus made a speech in reply to a complimentary toast, in which, among other things, he said:

"So far as the utmost exercise of his official powers and his personal influence would go to secure that result, Governor Walker said he was determined the people of Kansas should have an opportunity for equilibrium of any Constitution that might be framed—offer a fair and satisfactory census of all the banapide inhabitants who might be in the Territory at the time. He considered this due to them. It was part of their inherent and inalienable sovereignty. And he should consider it, not only a point of law and of efficial duty, as an officer of the Territory, but a point of former as a man and a gentleman, to do everything in his power to secure to them the full, fair as d indisputed exercise of this fundamental right.

"This he believed to be the great point essential to the peace and welfare of Kansas. If the facele could have such a vote, all dissensions would be settled. And he regarded all the past differences—the contests about the Legislature, about the Topel a Constitution, about the census and register of vogers—as preliminary questions; important, undoubtedly, but deriving most of their consequence from their place of the people of Kansas to decide for them eleves upon the Constitution which may be offered, for their adoption. Resolved. That a copy of these resolutions, signed by the efficers of this meeting, be transmitted to the family of the eccased.

Mr. Loan then rose and addressed the meeting in a few very elequent remarks. The leading features and rudimentary elements of Judge Oakley's character, he said, were a rol ust common sense, a large humanity, a generous spirit, and a directness and simplicity of nature and address. Because he disliked sephistry of nature has merely rhetorical and tawdry and unjust. But he was surely he toward that which was simple and true. It was his aim to ascertain justice and administer the law, His clearness of apprehension was remarkable, and hence, in the complicated trials before him, he classified facts, gave their due weight to circumstances, and dispelled whatever hims or prejudices might have clouded the real questions at issue. In matters of law, he indged upon the highest principles; his sagacity was perfect. His uprightness was not of that vulgar sort which refuses a bribe, but it was troough impartiality, unmoved by any influence of whatever description. Whence did Judge Oakley derive his great qualities? The Bar is the mother of the Bench, in the same way that though the queen is the subject of the king, were there no queen there would be no king. Mr. Oakley came from the country to this city; he had succeeded Martin Van Buren in the Attorney-Generalship; he was the cotemporary and compect of Judge Emott, Mr. Van Vechten, Mr. Gould and others of no less distinction. Mr. Lord drew a glowing picture of Mr. Oakley before the Supreme Court, when, with Thomas Addis Emmet by his side, he represen

Mr. Heram Ketchem, after alluding to the last meeting of the Bar on a similar occasion, the death of Ogden Hoffman, spoke of the simple and unaderned greatness of Thes. J. Oakley—the only man that was ever made Judge by the Bar of New-York. Who could bring a charge against Judge Oakley! Who could say that he had not done his whole duty during the thirty years that he has sat upon the Bench? Christianity, too, Christianity claimed his great intellect and sound judgment for herself.

The resolutions were again read by Mr. Evarts and unanimously passed. After adopting a motion by Mr. Gerard, that the resolutions be printed in all the daily papers of the city, the meeting adjourned.
